A New Covenant In Jesus Christ
Lesson for November 2, 1980
Scripture References: Luke 4:16-30; John 13:31-35; Mark 14:22-25
Focal Passages: Luke 4:16-21; Mark 14:22-25
Introduction

For the past two months we have traced the history of God's covenant with the people of Israel. From Abraham to Ezra we have looked at how God continually fulfilled his covenant promise to his people. This covenant remained in effect for the four hundred following Ezra until John the Baptist comes on the scene. A new covenant era opened with John's pronouncement, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord."

Jesus represents not so much a "new" covenant as he does the "ultimate" fulfillment of God's covenant promises.

A Link With The Past (Luke 4:16-21)

Jesus was very much in touch with his heritage or "roots". He often touched these roots by referring to the Old Testament characters and passages. Through these he affirmed his own role in the divine plan of redemption.

We may learn from Jesus at this point, namely, that we must reckon with our heritage. We cannot ignore our past as if it does not exist. Who we are in the present is somewhat fashioned by our past experiences. At the same time, however, it is important to consider that our future need not be fashioned by our past. There are times when we determine that our past mistakes should overshadow our future. There is much truth in the saying, "Our past is too much with us."

Of course, Jesus interpreted his heritage as a foundation upon which he would build the kingdom of God. He saw himself as a fulfillment of the law, not one who had come to destroy it. This is pointed out in his reading of the prophet Isaiah in which he describes himself as the one who came to fulfill those prophecies. He at least, "fills the bill" of the prophet Isaiah which reads, "The Spirit of the Lord...hath annointed me to minister to the spiritual, emotional and physical needs of people." (author's paraphrase).

A New Covenant And Commandment [John 13:31-35]

This new covenant in Christ was also revealed in the upper room prior to the crucifixion of Jesus. There Jesus shared with his disciples that he was going to his death, and that such a sacrificial act would glorify both him and his Father. The crucifixion was to be the ultimate consumation of God's redemptive plan.

As Jesus shared this news with his disciples, he likewise instructed them to follow a new commandment. The commandment was simply this,"....that you love one another, even as I have loved you."

Jesus was a radical example of love in his day. He cared for the sick, sat with the troubled, and encouraged people to make choices which would lead to abundant living. He gave hope to the hopeless and affirmed the worth of people. He loved the unloved and called people to a new calling, namely, discipleship within the kingdom.

Eating and Drinking The Covenant [Mark 14:22-25]

The new covenant in Christ was revealed in the initiation of the Lord's Supper. This new covenant superceded the old covenant. The Lord's Supper as we know it actually followed the Passover Feast. It became common in the early church to hold an agape feast or "love feast," followed by the Lord's Supper.

The Supper that Jesus instituted consisted of bread and wine only. The original Passover celebration was held to commemorate the deliverance from Egypt. But the new covenant and Supper would commemorate "...the lamb that was slain."

Thus, Jesus became the Lamb for the people.

Today we celebrate the Lord's Supper in a service of memory. Each time we eat the bread and drink the wine, we are pointing to the most memorable and important event in history, namely, the crucifixion, death, burial, and resurrection of Christ. In the Supper we identify ourselves with him as his followers.

Jesus instructed his disciples to observe the Supper as a continuing memorial to him. Just as the Israelites were told to annually observe the Passover, so Christians are to come to the Lord's Table on a continuing basis. In so doing "we do show forth the Lord's death till he comes."

Care must be taken to regard the Supper as an important and meaningful event within the Christian community. It is not something we casually attack onto the end of a worship service; it is a worship service in and of itself.

Each time we participate in the Supper, we identify ourselves with Christ and share in meaningful moments of memory. We come to the Supper, not because we must but because we may; not because we are righteous, but because we love him; not because we are strong, but because we are in need of his strength; not to express an opinion, but to seek his presence in our life.

The Pastor Speaks

By REV. G. E. HUGHES
Red Oak Baptist Church

We want our churches to be great churches. Great in the eyes of God in their ability to teach and proclaim the Word of God and to carry out God's purposes. Do we have a pattern to build by? We have a pattern in the early church. The characteristics of this church are set forth in the second chapter of the Book of Acts.

It was characterized by great power. The coming of the Holy Spirit on Pentecost empowered the church to become bold in witnessing and preaching. Referring to the early church the scripture says "they were all filled with the Holy Spirit." They were together in doctrine. Doctrines are the truths of the Gospel and they were together in their beliefs about the truths of the Gospel. They were together in believing that Jesus Christ is Saviour and Lord. Speaking of this church it says they continued steadfastly in fellowship. One of the great things about a church should be fellowship. A fellowship is a company of friends with kindred minds and the same interests. This friendliness is what attracts people and makes them feel at home.

The early church was characterized by a unity of purpose. "And all that believed were together" (Acts2:44). The Holy Spirit brought about this togetherness. They were together in their plans, in their efforts and in their influence. And because of this togetherness there was gladness in their hearts. "They did eat their meat with gladness and singleness of heart" (Acts 2:46). This describes their spiritual conditon. They were glad hearted.

Yes, the early church was truly a marvelous church. It was wonderful in its "teaching" and "preaching" and "witnessing" and "fellowship." It remains the greatest pattern for a great church.

Litter involvement continues

Appomattox Elementary School is participating in the Litter Control Program in Appomattox County by preparing classroom projects to be judged at each grade level.

Third grade projects were judged on Friday, October 17, by Mrs. Ruth Webb, Mrs. Ann Kerr, and Miss Erna Dickerson.

Projects prepared by individual classrooms were: Mrs. Sears - Litter Poster Art Project; Mrs. Phelps - Classroom Bulletin Board; Mrs. West - An Original Mural; Miss Morris - Individual Litter Bags Decorated classroom trash can; Miss Gillam - Large decorated litter bags beside each desk; Mrs. Turner - Original lyrics to a familiar tune; Mrs. Morgan - An Original Mural.

The winning classroom was Miss Carolyn Jo Morris' room who will receive an award of $50.00 to be used in her class. Runner up was Mrs. Chester Turner's room. Litter control projects for grade 4 will be judged on October 31, 1980 at ten o'clock.

In loving memory of William David Winston, who died October 30, 1979.

I am home in Heaven, dear ones;
Oh, so happy and so bright!
There is perfect joy and beauty
In this everlasting light
All the pain and grief is over,
Every restless tossing passed,
I am now at peace forever,
Safely home in Heaven at last

Did you wonder I so calmly
Trod the valley of the shade?
Oh! but Jesus' love illumined
Every dark and fearful glade

And He came Himself to meet me
In that way so hard to tread;
And with Jesus' arm to lean on,
Could I have one doubt or dread?

Then you must not grieve so acutely,
For I love you dearly still;
Try to look beyond earth's shadows,
Pray to trust our Father's Will.

There is work still waiting for you,
So you must not sit/stand.
Do it now, while life remaineth—
You shall rest in Jesus' land.

When that work is all completed,
He will gently call you Home.
Oh, the rapture of that meeting,
Oh, the joy to see you come!

Sadly missed by, Mother, Father, Brother And Sisters

Mrs. Joel Allen Dawson

Miss Stratton weds Mr. Dawson

The marriage of Debra Anne Stratton to Joel Allen Dawson took place on Saturday evening, Oct. 25, at eight o'clock in the Quaker Presbyterian Church with the Rev. James Thompson, pastor of the church officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Stratton of Concord and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Allen Dawson of Lynchburg.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown fashioned of candlelight organza and Venice lace. The empire bodice was finished with a Queen Anne neckline and Bishop sleeves. Lace, appliqued in motifs adorned the bodice and sleeves and encircled the high rise waistline and edged the hemline of the full floor length skirt which ended in a chapel train. The veil, finger-tip mantilla of silk illusion was edged in scallops of lace with motifs of lace scattered over the mantilla. She wore a pearl necklace which had been a gift to her mother from her father and worn on their wedding day. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and ivy.

Catherine Adair Tanner, of Lynchburg, cousin of the bride, was her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Connie Gillaspie Gallier, Dinah Collins Wade, and Julie Paris Reid, all of Lynchburg, Tracey Raddin of Simpsonville, S. C., and Katherine Mitchell Vaughan of Appomattox.

The maid of honor and attendants were identical dresses of dubonnet panne'. The bodice featured a deep v neckline overlaid with Ivory Venice lace and illusion veiling. They carried oyster white Victorian lace fans adorned with a cascade of oyster white and dubonnet miniature carnations.

Heather Mae Russell was flower girl.

Mr. Dawson was best man for his son and ushers were Ronnie Lee Fisher of Lynchburg, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; David Kelly Stratton of Concord, brother of the bride; and David Allen Blanks, Terrell Kent Ford and James Edward Reid all of Lynchburg.

Ring bearer was Graham Thomas Fisher and Jospeh Lee Newland was acolyte.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Stratton chose a floor length gown of powder blue Quiana. The v-neckline, enhanced by delicate pleats which flowed to the floor was gently gathered at the waist by two jeweled leaves. She wore a corsage of white cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the groom wore a floor length gown of rose, designed with a draped front and back and long sleeves. She wore an off white cymbidium orchid corsage.

L. Hadley Hunt was organist and a program of wedding music was provided by Joe Vaughan, baritone and Karen Fratrick, soprhrano.

Mistress of ceremonies was Margaret Stratton Newland.

Immediately following the ceremony the parents of the bride entertained with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride is a graduate of Appomattox County High School and the Virginia Baptist Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed in the neonatal unit of the hospital.

The bridegroom was graduated from Brookville High School and attended Central Virginia Community College. He is employed by the City of Lynchburg.

The couple will make their home in Lynchburg.

Birth is announced

Mrs. Byron Thomas Roach

Miss Godsey is wed to Mr. Roach

The marriage of Miss Karen Elaine Godsey to Byron Thomas Roach took place Saturday afternoon, October 25, at 3 o'clock at Appomattox Baptist Temple in Appomattox.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Marion Greenwell of Brookneal, and Mr. Robert O. Godsey, Jr., of Maddletown, Pennsylvania. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Roach of Appomattox.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Ron Gallagher, pastor of the church.

The church was decorated with arrangements of green ferns and brass candelabra with white candles. A program of nuptial music was presented by Debbie Rush, organist. Mrs. Charlene R. Lawson, soloist for the wedding, presented the songs, "Always and Forever," "We've Only Just Begun," and "The Wedding Song."

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. R. O. Godsey, of Lynchburg.

The bride's gown was designed of white qiana and Venice lace. The blouson bodice was attached to a deep yoke of lace finished with a high Victorian neckline of Venice lace and bridal illusion and falling over the shoulders forming cap sleeves. A narrow rolled sash encircled the waist and was tied in the back in a bow. The gown was fashioned with a full floor length skirt ending in a chapel train. A band of Venice lace finished the hemline of the skirt and train.

The headpiece featured a Venice lace hat finished with satin ribbon which tied in the back with a bow and long streamers.

The bride carried a cascade silk boquet consisting of white rosebuds, stephanotis, daisy's, lilly of the valley and baby's breath. It was completed with white lace streamers.

Mrs. Vickie T. Gunter, of Concord, was matron of honor. She wore a floor length dress of Honey qiana fashioned along the brides' dress. Her dress featured an embroidered illusion yoke and a narrow rolled sash at the waist and tied in the back in a bow. She carried a long stemmed pink silk rose complimented with pink satin streamers and baby's breath. Her hairpiece was of baby's breath.

Attendants were Miss Kristi L. Godsey, of Lynchburg, and Miss Kelly L. Godsey, of Brookneal, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Lisa R. Inge, of Lynchburg, sister of the groom; Miss Sherri O. Harris, of Appomattox, and Miss Teresa K. Lettner, of Richmond. Their dresses were identical to that of the honor attendant, and they carried a long stemmed red silk rose with baby's breath and red streamers. Their hairpieces were also of baby's breath.

Miss Jeannie Ragland, of Spout Spring, was flower girl. She wore a white floor length dress fashioned of lightweight polyester with a lace neckline and lace cap sleeves. Her dress was complimented with a wide white satin bow accenting the waistline. Her hairpiece was also of baby's breath and she carried a white basket of petals.

The groom wore a white tuxedo fashioned with a satin trim and a white pleated shirt with a wing tip collar. On his lapel he wore a white rosebud complimented with baby's breath.

Mr. Thomas C. Roach, of Appomattox, served as his son's best man. Ushers were Mr. Kendell Godsey, of Middletown, Pennsylvania, brother of the bride; Mr. Todd Roach of Appomattox, Mr. Jeff Lipscomb, of Phenix, and Mrs. Andy Lipscomb, of Phenix, cousins of the groom; and Mr. David Inge, of Lynchburg, brother-in-law of the groom. They wore chocolate brown tuxedoes with white pleated shirts that featured wing tip collars. Their boutineers were of red rose buds.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Greenwell selected a floor length dress of mauve qiana. Seeded pearls accented the neckline which draped over the shoulders forming a cape, the empire waistline also featured seeded pearls. She wore a white cymbidium orchid with a mauve center.

The mother of the groom wore a floor length dress of persimmon silk organza over satin. Her dress was designed with a fitted waistline that formed a blouson bodice with a scooped neckline and butterfly sleeves. She wore a white cymbidium orchid with a persimmon center.

Mrs. Betsy Hamlett, of Phenix, served as mistress of ceremonies.

Mrs. June Chenault and Mrs. Edith Scruggs decorated the church.

Attending the guest register was Miss Dawn Knox, of Chesapeake, Va., and Miss Kimberly Drinkard, of Appomattox, issued a scroll to each guest.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Serving the wedding cake was Mrs. Rachel Drinkard and Mrs. Brenda Morris. Attending the punch bowl was Mrs. Julie Austin and Mrs. Peggy Roach.

Shower given for Elder's baby

Frank Lee and Zandra Elder were honored with a floating baby shower Saturday, Oct. 4 in the fellowship hall of Rocks Baptist Church.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Audrey Almond, Mrs. Phyllis Ranson, Mrs. Sheila Martin and Mrs. Susan Goin. The table was decorated with a centerpiece of candles and baby toys in pastel colors. Many friends and relatives of the couple attended.

For her going away outfit, the bride chose a brown suit with matching accessories complimented with a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Appomattox County High School and is employed by Armstrong Furniture Industries. The bridegroom is also a graduate of Appomattox County High School and is employed by B.A. & T. C. Roach.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Godsey, of Lynchburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wood, of Newport News, Va. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Garland D. Austin of Appomattox, Mrs. Rosa L. Roach of Phenix, and Mr. Stanley Jr Roach of Appomattox.

After a wedding trip to Orlando, Florida, the couple will make their home in Appomattox.

Homemakers hold meeting

The Appomattox Homemakers Club met on Tuesday, Oct. 21, at 10:00 a.m. at Memorial United Methodist Church. Several members of the club who are members of this church served as hostesses. Twenty-three members attended.

Mrs. Louise Plunkett, club president, presided. Mrs. Elizabeth Reynolds gave the devotional on Thanksgiving and Mrs. Helen Gunter led in prayer. Following the reading of the minutes of the September meeting, Mrs. Myrtle Scruggs, treasurer, reported that $174.00 was collected on the quilt made by members as a fund raising project.

Mrs. Florence Trent read a verse given to her by Mrs. Hazel Buchanan, "Thank God for Today," (author unknown) and suggested this as a new creed. Mrs. R. E. Wilbun suggested that the doxology, "Praise God from whom all blessings flow," be sung and included with the creed.

As part of its community outreach program, the club voted to contribute $25.00 to the Appomattox County Rescue Squad's fund raising campaign. It also voted to bring food for a needy family to its November meeting.

Mrs. Florence Trent presented a very interesting and entertaining program on food supplements, explaining why these are needed by most persons today. She distributed copies of the magazine, "Prevention, the Magazine for Better Health," with the suggestion that members read and exchange these. In addition, members brought plants and favorite recipes to exchange with one another.

The November meeting of the Appomattox Homemakers Club will be a luncheon meeting at Maude's Restaurant, Tuesday, November 18, 11:00 a.m. Members may bring guests.

The meeting adjourned and the hostesses served delicious refreshments.
